

Matthew Sweeney

Bell Partners

Matthew Sweeney is a Chartered Accountant and business advisor with global experience but a local approach. Over the past 25 years he has worked with businesses from local start-up entrepreneurs through to international Government departments providing strategic guidance and compliance advice using his wealth of knowledge and expertise. More recently he has joined the team at Bell Partners in Tamworth as the head of the Accounting division.

“I am keen to join the Board of the Tamworth Business Chamber in order to continue developing a thriving business community and create a showcase for regional investment attraction.”
